

To celebrate the launch of an exciting new exhibition at the Science Museum, Metro is previewing the Museum's four alien zones...

ZONE 4:

ALIEN COMMUNICATION

This final zone looks at the search for alien intelligence, showing how scientists are listening for signals from outer space and how they have attempted to communicate with alien civilisations. Visitors will be able to listen to space and compose and send a message to an alien - whether it be scientific or spiritual, welcome or warning.

Don't forget you can still go to the exclusive preview day of the Aliens exhibition tomorrow. Just bring along this article or this copy of Metro and you can get in for free any time from 10am-6pm. Subject to availability

