

Most believe we are not alone

About 80 per cent of Britons believe that aliens exist, according to the Science Museum. The museum in London carried out a survey for an exhibition, The Science of Aliens, which opens in October. One in 15 of the respondents said they believed that they had seen a UFO. Half said that they would like to experience life on another planet. Nelson Mandela was voted the best person to represent Earth to aliens, ahead of the astronomer Sir Patrick Moore.
